Great Port "Second Tokyo"

Yokohama Flaming After Attack By More Than 450 U.S. Superforts

From CP, AP and RUP Dispatches

GUAM, May 29.—Yokohama, Japan's fifth largest city, and first port of call for ships en route to the Orient from America, is today a "second Tokyo".

More than 450 superfortresses, with a total of 1,000 sorties from 100 B-29s, made a third daylight raid in six days and dropped 3,200 tons of incendiaries on the shuddering port and its suburbs. The air raid left the city a pillar of flame and smoke which shot four miles into the sky.

Shipyards, war plants, installations and blocks after blocks of business buildings and homes were reduced to ashes as the bombardiers laid their incendiaries in a pattern from the water to the land right through the centre of the city.

One returning pilot, the last to leave the area after the raid, said Yokohama was "burning like hell".

The assault was carried out from the sea by the recent naval victory of the Japanese over the Allies combined with the devastating carrier-based raid on the Japanese homeland.

Admiral Soemu Toyoda from Japan's three top naval commands intended to revive the drooping spirits of the Japanese navy and the morale of the Japanese civilian.

The Japanese Dowager Empress and the navy ministry announced that Toyoda had been relieved as commander-in-chief of the newly-established overall naval command and commander of the Naval Escort Forces.

Stettinius Address

U.S. Calls for Understanding

On Problems Facing Big Five

SAN FRANCISCO, May 29. (AP)—Secretary

Stettinius chose for the United States last night the role of mediator among the major nations in a five-point declaration of foreign policy which climaxed a report on the United Nations conference.

In a speech punctuated by a warning to all neutrals to put democratic principles into practice at home, Mr. Stettinius called on the United States, Great Britain, China to join with the United States in reaching an early conclusion to such vexing problems as establishment of a new Polish government.

The speech laid down these terms for the conference: "First, Mr. Stettinius said, must attain the strength and continuity that has characterized our foreign policy in the past history of our country."

YALTA VOTE AGREEMENT

Toucing on the United Nations conference, Mr. Stettinius said, "We must have a firm base upon which to build." He also blamed Mr. Stettinius gave an United States interpretation of the Yalta Conference. Prime L. Morrison of the University of Alberta spoke briefly on the subject of the Yalta Conference, which was to be held in a few weeks.

The speech came after a recent statement by the Canadian government for a higher standard of living in Canada.

400 Reported Dead, Wounded In New Outbreaks of Violence

From CP, AP and RUP Dispatches

LONDON, May 29.—The little Middle-East French mandates of Syria and Lebanon, backed by the powerful Arab League, appeared today to be forcing a showdown which may cost France part of her empire.

As renewed outbreaks occurred in the Levant, with French troops and Syrians in open warfare and casualties on each side, diplomatic observers in London today expressed the view that France has only two possible courses—either she must put down opposition by force if necessary in standing by her demands, or she must withdraw and accept inevitable loss of prestige as an imperial power.

Both in London and in Washington diplomats are seeking an amicable solution and striving to avoid further violence, but they can well disturb the already delicate balance in the Middle East.

FIGHTING FLARES

Fighting again has broken out in Syria between French forces and natives protesting their presence, and a British ultimatum from Damascus said Syria's acting premier, Jamil Mardam Bey, expressed the opinion that the strife might be near as fighting spread to Hama, 120 miles north of the capital, after the French had moved reinforcements to the area to quell an outbreak at Hama, 30 miles north of Aleppo.

The French were reported to have the main street of Hama under continual cross-fire yesterday, and British patrols were moving on the street, while French artillery shells had knocked out a number of houses (including a government building). Syrians ambushed and captured three French artilleurys, killing six men and wounding three others.

At Hama, best available estimates in Damascus placed the casualties at more than 400, including 100 killed.

THROW HEAVY BLASTS

Meanwhile Jolliffe and his "operatives" in the investigation of the alleged Gestapo, Flight Lieutenant B. C. Sandwell, editor of Saturday Night; the Rev. Peter Bryce, Minister of the Evangelical Church of Canada; Liberal Leader Mitchell Hepburn; and dozens of Ontario reporters and eddy docketed and dossiered in the political police file, according to Jolliffe.

To these attacks Drew seems to have just two means of defense: First to plug through a newspaper that he has been compelled to release and strengthen his defense of responsibility for the war, and the second, to make a branch of the Provincial Police if this branch of the government is not to be called out the political espionage with which Jolliffe charges it.

FINDS "WAY OUT"

At first glance Liberal Leader Drew seems to be forced to the shut off of this controversy by the ever-aggressive Mich. Seems to have found a way out of this difficult position by calling for a public hearing to launch the investigation immediately and promising to abstain from further campaigns against the two leaders appearing before the committee.

Besides the generous Hepburn offers some observers saw the hope that Drew would be forced into a stand that would suit Hepburn best, and postpone the election until after the federal contest on June 11. Even this, however, does not seem to recall the postponing of an election at this stage of a campaign, and the two leaders are growing public sentiment in the direction.

Summing up the Ontario situation with its campaigning days left the Progressive Conservatives most still raw as favorites but rising to a second place. Drew to obtain a working majority in the next house seems to hinge on whether the Progressive Conservative government of CCF-BHP and minority left wing groups taking office after June 4th will longer all the time.

To Open New Posts In East Arctic Area

This new post probably will be opened in the east Arctic this year but no extensions are contemplated in the Arctic area, said Fred J. Mead, RCM, Ottawa, who arrived here Tuesday in the course of an inspection of western BHP establishments.

He said that the marine patrol, which has been active in the Arctic on the outbreak of war was being reorganized, and that members of the Canadian Army were now returning to the force. There is no recruiting at present.

He spent several days here, after which he will continue on to the Pacific coast.

FINDS "WAY OUT"

At first glance Liberal Leader Drew seems to be forced to the shut off of this controversy by the ever-aggressive Mich. Seems to have found a way out of this difficult position by calling for a public hearing to launch the investigation immediately and promising to abstain from further campaigns against the two leaders appearing before the committee.

Besides the generous Hepburn offers some observers saw the hope that Drew would be forced into a stand that would suit Hepburn best, and postpone the election until after the federal contest on June 11. Even this, however, does not seem to recall the postponing of an election at this stage of a campaign, and the two leaders are growing public sentiment in the direction.

Summing up the Ontario situation with its campaigning days left the Progressive Conservatives most still raw as favorites but rising to a second place. Drew to obtain a working majority in the next house seems to hinge on whether the Progressive Conservative government of CCF-BHP and minority left wing groups taking office after June 4th will longer all the time.

COUNT ON ARDEN

The emphasis given the air arm seems to indicate that with her arrival she will be given a free hand on her airmen alone to turn back American assaults.

Her appointment, however, did not receive the unanimous endorsement of the Japanese navy to stave it all in an all-out effort to win final victory in the decisive battle of the war.

USE NEW WEAPON

Japanese troops in the Asato river area have introduced a new weapon of warfare, a bomb packed with explosives and swung from the end of a pole. Their technique is to drop the bomb from a height and let fly at marines appearing over the top of a ridge.

Already the Japanese have made considerable progress in this field and are to be expected to continue to do so.

SEIZE TEN MONTHLY

Canadian naval and army personnel received $10 monthly bonuses bringing their pay to $54 which includes $10 for each month of service. The army and navy pay $60 with a $70 rate for combat infantrymen.

The program is designed for Far East combat men.

He Figures Himself Out

Mr. Bracken professes to believe that his party can win enough seats in the general election to form a government. He also says the C.C.F. cannot win more than 45 seats.

There are 245 seats in the House of Commons. Deducting the 45 which Mr. Bracken concedes as the maximum to Mr. Coldwell and his followers, leaves an even 200 seats to be distributed among all the other parties. The C.C.F. would need to secure 124 seats for a majority.

The C.C.F. is not expected to capture any seats in the province of Quebec. That any Conservative candidate can get elected in that province is a farce. But Quebec will still make a percentage of the seats. Deducting these from the 200 non-C.C.F. seats for the whole Dominion, leaves 135.

Out of this number Mr. Bracken would have to win 124 seats in order to form a government. The C.C.F. has the largest number of the smallest possible size. On which basis there remain just 9 seats outside Quebec to be divided among the Liberals, Social Creditors, Labor Progressives, and candidates claiming no party affiliation—according to the C.C.F.

Whatever he may have hoped to show by introducing mathematics into his political prophecy stink, it is clear enough where Mr. Bracken's calculations lead. They prove by the simplest and plainest of operations that he has no chance at all of coming anywhere near to getting even the barest possible clear majority in parliament.

Hazards of Crowding

Dr. G. M. Little, Edmonton's medical health officer, performs a valuable public service in speaking out frankly and plainly about the hazards of the home shortage. Overcrowding, says Dr. Little, "has resulted in an exceedingly narrow margin of safety from devastating disease epidemic". The medical vigilante officers point out that the steady vigilance and successful immunization have prevented serious outbreaks in this city.

Such a situation, as pictured by Dr. Little, falls far below the living standards accepted as proper in this country. Nothing can be done to help the Jewish community mitigate its almost grueling family relationships, nothing menaces community values, so gravely as the constant threat against health created by a preventable condition.

The fact is that the housing situation in Edmonton and throughout Canada is the number one problem of the nation. Surely this country has the intelligence and the initiative to work out a housing policy that will permanently relieve the situation. Sure, more money and materials will shortly be available in sufficient quantities to carry out such a policy before next winter. It is only a question, after all, of applying human energy intelligently to the problem.

Certainly nothing is a greater urgency than that families should have decent shelter without the constant overhanging threat of disease.

Just as Hitler Used To Do

One thing which gets left out of many discussions of the Socialists' program is the fact that this country needs to export and import goods. We can always export goods, by the simple process of giving them away, and we have done a lot of that during the war. We must, however, do a lot more of it during the peace, unless trade gets re-established on the normal basis.

Evidently, if we are going to export by another means than by giving the goods away, we shall have to accept imports in return. It is quite reasonable to see the Socialists worrying about how this exchange would be arranged.

It is easy to say that the government would control all prices and all wages in Canada. Once the government had taken over all power over our freedom, of course, the government could fix all prices and all wages in Canada.

What remains is to consider exactly how a Socialist Government in Canada would fix the prices of the goods which we import.

Of course, the solution is quite clear. The government would not let private parties import anything at all. The government would import everything that was imported into Canada, and then fit these imports into its plan of what the people of Canada should be allowed to consume.

It is interesting to consider exactly how much Canada would know that this would be one inevitable consequence of socialism and that, under socialism, we should not be free—when we heard of something which someone makes in another country, and which is not made in Canada—to send and get it. The Socialists would be worried, though, if it would not be made by us. It would be made by government officials, who would decide what was good for the Canadian people to have in the way of imports.

Highway Signs

The provincial government will have wide public approval in its campaign to control and restrict signsboards along highways in Alberta. Among the new regulations formulated by the Town and Rural Planning Advisory Board are these:

Signs, signalboards and other advertising signs, except temporary signs, may be placed on any road or secondary highway not included within the limits of any city, town or village.

Directional signs may not be more than three feet high and two feet wide. A sign may be placed within 500 feet of a railway crossing or a turn in the road. They must be painted and kept in proper repair.

As an essential step towards preserving the natural beauty of the countryside, these new regulations will affect all signs, whether they are ugly and degrading as a series of flamboyant boardings that crowd between the motorist and the scenery.

Moreover, the presence of these flaunting signs adds materially to traffic hazards. Many an accident has occurred because tourists have interrupted their clear view at an intersection or a turn in the road.

If Alberta proposes to do any considerable tourist business after the war, this present step will be a useful one. Tourists like to see the route, not necessarily to feast their eyes on the merits of products advertised for sale.

Alberta International Shuts-in Day Is a Day Designed for Kindness

Alberta International Shuts-in Day does not occur until the first Sunday in June. I am writing this now because I think it is important that whatever is done for the sick and infirm should be done with care and preparation and thought.

It is not the intention that there should be any kind of a day, but a day designed to bring about a certain atmosphere of kindness or to turn the set inward to utilize one's own vanity.

Calvinistic doctrine holds that good act has merit under the door thereof infuses a little pain in the conscience of the doer, but the unscrupulous act should give the doer unselfish pleasure. But there is such a difference between the two that it has little effect beyond swelling the ego of the donor.

It is not kindness at all. It is only affection.

By ALFRED L. WEIR
Alberta International Shut-in's Day does not occur until the first Sunday in June. I am writing this now because I think it is important that whatever is done for the sick and infirm should be done with care and preparation and thought.

It is not the intention that there should be any kind of a day, but a day designed to bring about a certain atmosphere of kindness or to turn the set inward to utilize one's own vanity.

But there is such a difference between the two that it has little effect beyond swelling the ego of the donor.

It is not kindness at all. It is only affection.

Shut-in's Day is not only an occasion for doing kindness to those who are house-patients, most of whom are unable to accept their affliction and nobly try to hide it. Those who are withdrawn from society physical delights of an active life can find within the walls of their homes a certain inward strength that elevates them above misfortune.

signed for kindness. That is why I am pointing of what you have planned for this occasion. If you have some little extra treat for those who are house-patients, such as active life were to come with preparation and thought.

For it is so easy for planned kindness to turn to a swell of an egotistical display. It is so easy to overestimate the value of your works.

CALGARY, May 29.—(CP)—"Subtle propaganda" against the provisions of the Lord's Day All-Canada Act of Canada has been depicted by Rev. N. Bay Van Den Ven, when he reported to the Alberta conference of the United Church.

As secretary for Western Canada of the Lord's Day Alliance of Canada, Dr. Bay Van Den Ven warned the conference here Tuesday to "wreak constantly" of such propaganda.

Referring to the Sabbath as "a great Christian institution," he declared it was "indispensable to the future if we are to continue in our democratic way of life."

Re-Establishment

OTTAWA, May 29.—(CP)—Problems connected with the re-establishment of veterans will be discussed at a three-day conference of veterans' affairs rehabilitation units of the Lord's Day Alliance of Canada.

Lethbridge Man's Body Is Found

LETHBRIDGE, Alta., May 29.—(CP)—Body of Del Clarke, Lethbridge hardware shop owner, who disappeared May 12, was recovered from the Old Man River east of Taber Saturday night. Royal Canadian Mounted Police reported that Inspector E. R. Frett said the body was found approximately 18 miles downstream from Taber by RCMP. A few days after Clarke disappeared, his automobile was found on the banks of the Old Man river north of Coalville.

FEAR or REASON based on slander based on fact

A great national movement is being attacked by the most unscrupulous campaign in Canada's history. Every possible lie, distortion and slander is being used by Big Business and its political parties against the thousands of Canadians who form the CCF.

The CCF has not the money to buy enough space to answer all the misstatements. Here are the answers to a few of the more glaring falsehoods:

FALSE

1 "The CCF will take away the people's savings and life insurance."

TRUE

1 This is outright falsehood. The CCF says: THE MONEY WHICH THE PEOPLE HAVE EARNED, RIGHTFULLY BELONGS TO THEM whether it is in bonds, insurance or savings accounts. The CCF will guarantee the people's savings with all the resources of the nation.

2 "The CCF will take the farmer's farm away."

2 Deliberate falsehood. The CCF believes in the FARM SECURITY ACT IN CANADA, providing against the loss of home and land, and seizure of crop.

3 "The CCF will destroy the small businessman and individual enterprise."

3 Another untruth. THE CCF HAS NO INTENTION OF TAKING OVER SMALL BUSINESS. Today, small business and individual enterprise suffer from three handicaps: (a) unfair competition from big combines; (b) difficulty of getting credit; (c) reduction in business through depressions.

The CCF will remove these handicaps—will end monopoly control—provide credit at cost—and through jobs for all, will assure steady purchasing power.

4 "The CCF will mean regimentation and dictatorship."

4 On the contrary, Big Business itself regiments Canadians through unemployment, high prices, low wages and exploitation of the farmer. THE CCF WILL END THIS REGIMENTATION. It will enrich our democracy by adding freedom from want and freedom from fear to the precious right of the ballot box.

5 "The CCF is National Socialist."

5 This is the most shameful lie of all. The term "National Socialist" was invented by Hitler to cash in on the popularity of genuine socialism. Once in power he proceeded to exterminate all democrats and socialists, while Big Business all over the world dealt with him and helped him.

The CCF HAS ALWAYS FOUGHT EVERY FORM OF DICTATORSHIP AT HOME AND ABROAD. It is the most democratic political movement ever known in Canada, and is the nation's best safeguard against the real friends of Fascism.

D 208—THE DREW GESTAPO

The sensational exposure that Premier Drew in Ontario has been using secret police RAID BY THE TAXPAYERS' MONEY—not for the safety of the people—but to spy on the CCF and other citizens, is now known across Canada.

Canadians are shocked by this disclosure. This exposure, proven by fact and affidavit, disclosed that the CCF has been working hand in glove with Drew's secret police. It shows how far Big Business is going in Canada to keep us in poverty and misery. The lies about the CCF shown above in this advertisement are a part of the same campaign of distortion, broadcasts and literature distributed by "front" organizations are also part of the same slander and falsehood financed by Big Business at a cost of millions of dollars.

FELLOW CANADIANS—for your own security in the difficult years ahead—it is your DUTY to judge the facts, namely, REASON BASED ON FACTS. NOT FEAR BASED ON LIES AND SLANDER. MUST GOVERN OUR DECISIONS.

Bracken Denies Claim Son Is Evading Army Service

VANCOUVER, May 29.—(CP)—John Bracken, national Progressive Conservative leader, last night denied that his son, Tom, had sought to evade military service during the Second World War.

Commenting on a statement made by Maxine Lalonde, Liberal candidate in the Quebec constituency of Labelle, Mr. Bracken said: "The statement as read to me by Mrs. Lalonde is not true. My son Tom, who had sought to evade conscription is abroad and serving in the armed services as volunteer and he himself is a young married man."

As a matter of fact, he desired to get but only the pressure of family duties kept him from doing so," he said.

MONTRÉAL, May 29.—(CP)—Maxine Lalonde, Liberal member of the last parliament for Labelle, riding, said at a political meeting here yesterday that Mr. John Bracken, the national Progressive Conservative Leader, John Bracken, has sought right here in Quebec to evade conscription.

Mr. Bracken, she said, has sought to evade the very conscription his father is seeking so desperately to get him to do, and has turned for the war against the Japs.

From the platform, Mr. Lalonde read the following statement, in part, which she had prepared and distributed to newspapermen covering the meeting: "Gen. Murray Bracken was born Aug. 24, 1916. On the declaration of war he was thus 23 years old.

Your Baby And Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED
These cases offer some challenge to the parent. If the formula ends to taste, she can set against the cup so that the very sight of it arouses his antagonism. He won't try it again.

Before this stage is reached and when the baby is merely pushing the cup away, by turning his head and closing his eyes firmly against the cup so that the very sight of it arouses his antagonism. He won't try it again.

The milk is served in which the milk is served may be of some importance, too. The child is used to drinking from a bottle or a nursing bottle. If he can clasp the glass in the same way and sup up the milk, it has a sense of familiarity which will make him accept it.

The milk should be warmed as it was when served by bottle. It will take a few trials to find the method which he is accustomed to, but he will get used to the new taste if the mother is patient and tactful about the change.

Don't use a large glass with a thin edge. It is better to use one of a diameter similar to the bottle with which he is accustomed.

A child old enough to hold a cup or glass easily is old enough to pour the milk into the glass from a bottle. This may inspire him to drink the milk, because it will seem like a treat.

The attitude of the mother that she must always be present will follow—simply shrills for combat and the child shrills for protection. That's what the mother gets.

THE BABY'S FEET

A reader says her baby is 2 years and 4 months old and the shoe salesman told her the baby's feet are still too small. The doctor suggested some simple exercises to strengthen the baby's feet. The baby thinks exercises great fun.

It is not unusual for babies to be born with feet that are too small.

Doesn't it sound strange that the salesmen had taken the baby to a clothing shop to get a coat, and the saleswoman had found that the baby had spinal curvature, and the doctor had found that the saleswoman made to have a spinal brace made to her specifications for the baby to wear constantly?

Having invested in the professional services of the shoe clerk and the apparel people, the specifications the prodigal mother took time out to think a bit. She wrote to this department and received this answer: "The less foot wear the better we want them to be. When stockings or shoes or both are necessary, the less the child needs them. We want them to be as light as possible. The reason for protection against cuts, bruises or punctures, the better."

Convinced, Mrs. Grotrock is what you might call it—predicament, plight or predicament. She is seeking a happy solution for her problem. She wrote to this department and received this answer: "The less foot wear the better we want them to be. When stockings or shoes or both are necessary, the less the child needs them. We want them to be as light as possible. The reason for protection against cuts, bruises or punctures, the better."

The first doctor, she continues, examined the baby and told her to discard the arch supports. She then bought the baby a brace to accommodate flexible Oxford instead of high-shoe or foot wear of any kind that is rigid or stiff under the heel or toe. The brace is to be worn over the ankles (as do the tight uppers of high-shoe or boots).

CWAC to Go To Pacific

OTTAWA, May 29 (CP)—First official word that members of the Canadian Women's Army Corps will be sent to the Pacific theatre of operations was made public Monday in a 30-page booklet entitled "Women in the War From Here," issued at the direction of the minister of national defence.

The booklet reviews the future aims of the army and its women's auxiliary, the role that the war in Europe is ending.

"Present CWAC personnel and new recruits will receive overseas service under existing conditions, will be allowed to elect for service in the Pacific in the same manner as other current booklet said."

CONTINUED NEED
While pointing out that it was too early to predict exact numbers to be sent to the Pacific, it added, "Inasmuch as the Pacific forces will require administrative help, it is pointed out that there will be continued need for CWAC for some time."

In reviewing the work and plans of the CWAC the booklet outlined their future work in Europe. It said, "The first CWAC personnel will be dispatched overseas to aid in the reparation program. It is an additional service which will be required for discharge and demobilization procedure here in Canada, as well as continuing military installations."

NUMBER NOT KNOWN
"While it is still too early to predict exact numbers to be sent overseas for service in England, on the continent or in the Pacific, those who have been or will be patched may be in excess of those who have already been sent overseas since the beginning of the war."

The booklet emphasized that the need for continual enlisting into the CWAC is still strong.

However, while the CWAC is still recruiting, some members are being demobilized in accordance with army plans. —V

City Council Approves Proposal To Move Housing Units From North

City council Monday night authorized the city manager to negotiate with the provincial government under which 100 units would be moved from Dawson Creek to provide temporary emergency housing here.

Aldermen, with the exception of Ald. A. Bisest, K.C., Ald. Parsons said he was opposed to the motion because of the amount of time and the money involved in the proposal, an estimated $80,000, could be utilized in moving 100 temporary homes in the city. He said there might be fewer housing accommodations available if 100 temporary homes would be an asset to the city.

Several aldermen said they were supporting the motion because of the emergent nature of housing situations in the city.

CITY PLANNING

Ald. J. H. McLean, who was critical of the lack of action by the Dominion government in meeting the housing shortage here and throughout the country, said the Dominion government's responsibility to provide proper housing accommodations was evident in the fact that within a very short space of time thousands of houses would be returning from abroad.

He said the city had been given the entire project had been made to the Dominion authorities to meet the deplorable housing situation.

Ald. Parsons said he was unanimously requesting the Dominion government to assume responsibility for any loan that might be sufficient to help the city continue with the Dawson Creek project.

Ald. Bisest said: "So often we talk about responsibility of government for the provision of housing and other necessities, and while we are talking nothing is done. There is no time to waste. Swift action is necessary. He suggested that the necessary action be taken by the federal government and made subsequently to the Dominion government to shoulder its share of the cost of the project."

Under the terms of the agreement the province will finance the city in the moving from Dawson Creek to Mount Pleasant where erection here. The project will cost an estimated minimum of $80,000 and a maximum of $100,000. Interest rate on the loan will be three per cent.

Ald. Parsons said the project was continuing especially as the project was of such emergent character. Interest rate should be considerably lower than the original Clash purchasing agent for the provincial government, he said, carried on negotiations for the project, indicating that the interest rate asked for was one-half per cent below the rate at which the province was receiving the money.

INFORMATION

The 100 units will be erected in a U-shaped formation, and each formation will contain 12 housing units. The units will be a portion of the 400 family dwellings in a limit of 200, may be assigned to other municipalities by the province.

An architectural committee composed of Arthur Arms, representative of the Canadian Housing Act administration; Maxwell C. Dever, city architect, and Raymond Shaw, engineer, worked on details of architecture and construction. The units will be every effort made to make them comfortable exterior, suitably finished and landscaped, and will consist of two bedrooms, bathroom, kitchen or kitchenette, and one or two bedrooms.

City Commissioner R. J. Gibbons said the inspection of the units to be moved from Dawson Creek would be made immediately after the completion of the entire project.

The dwellings are to be made available under a standard form of lease and in the following priority: first, to married veterans who may be or be anticipated by arrangement between the province and the city, to returned married veterans who have established residence in Edmonton previous to their discharge; secondly, to married veterans having established residence in the province previous to their discharge; thirdly, to retired veterans; to other residents of Edmonton to others.

TEN-YEAR AMORTIZATION

The project would be eligible over a ten-year period, provided in the agreement for the extension for further terms of two years subject to the approval of the province.

The city will be paid $50 in respect of each unit, and the province, the approximate annual amount being approximately $600. The land on which the dwellings stand are to be retained by the city to the provincial government.

The amount of financial loss on the project the city and province will share it equally.
